Parking Signs—How to Read Them

The City Roanoke uses many parking signs to provide information about when, how long, and for what purposes a vehicle may park on-street or to designate specific curb uses. Sometimes two or more signs are combined when several regulations apply to the same curb space.

Signs are meant to be read from Top to Bottom. Also, they are color coded much like traffic lights. Red means there is a prohibition, limitation or No Parking while Green indicates Parking is allowed.

Signs have arrows on a flat surface and only direct parking for the side of the street that the sign and sign pole are located. A double arrow means that parking is allowed on both sides of the sign. A parking sign regulates all parking spaces in the direction of the arrow until the next parking sign or the end of the block. Pay close attention to any Exceptions. When reading signs, notice:

- Color
- Arrow Direction
- Times
- Days, and
- Exceptions

Is the Green arrow pointing towards your car? If yes, you may park there within the days, times, and exceptions or limits shown on the sign.

Is the Red arrow pointing towards your car? If yes, then do not park there.
